Established when cybersecurity still meant installing an antivirus and being wary of princes from far-flung lands, the IT Security Guru publishes the latest and most relevant news for cybersecurity professionals.

With a mix of news and opinion pieces, the IT Security Guru is the go-to place for industry experts to catch a glimpse of what's happening in the cybersecurity community, engage with other professionals and start a conversation about the issues that affect us all.

Why choose the GURU?

- 23,000 unique monthly visitors
- More than a decade in the industry
- Global readership of industry leading professionals
- 15.5K+ Twitter followers
- Dedicated SEO team
- Creative editorial team
- Ranked #1 on Apollo for cybersecurity
- Run independent product reviews
The Guru is one of the only websites in the industry that offers independent product reviews. Dave Mitchell, the UK's premier security tech product reviewer, is very thorough.

Dave requires a minimum of one month to review the product and we would need to decide when you want to have it published. We'll support it with any supporting materials, such as graphs, to make it look its best on the website.

Each full review will cost £4,000. It will remain on the Guru website for one year and will reach a minimum of 140,000 people over the course of the year.
WEBINARS

Believe it or not, we have 23,000 unique monthly visitors and 15.5k Twitter followers. It’s a site that is hugely popular amongst the CISO community and other senior IT security professionals. We’ve always prided ourselves on making the site the ‘go-to’ place for news but also educational digital content. This makes the IT Security Guru the perfect place to host an informative and interactive webinar.

Our editorial team will help you create an engaging topic and work with you closely to set the webinar up. We will also promote the webinar on our social channels, and you’ll be able to share it on your website too.

Each webinar will cost £4,000 and will also include a thought leadership article about your topic of choice that will land on the homepage of the IT Security Guru.
Very often in the cybersecurity space we see, and hear about, things befitting of a horror film or a dystopian novel: a ransomware strain that shuts down a hospital’s infrastructure; a hacker that infiltrates a smart home to torment an unsuspecting family; a cybercrime group that extorts millions of pounds from innocent people.

This gave us an idea. Why don’t we use these incidents to tell stories, and teach lessons, about the dangers of the connected world?

If you, like us, have a penchant for storytelling and informing others, we’d love to read your story and publish it on the IT Security Guru website. If you’re interested in contributing, please:

- Send your story to james@itsecurityguru.org
- Ensure the story is between 500 and 1000 words
- Provide your name, job title and bio

We also have a number of sponsorship opportunities available:
